Leading with Impact in 2025

A Message from Janice Ancrum,
NCCOA President & CEO

As I look back on 2025, I am proud of the progress this organization has achieved. Last year, we expanded access to Case Management services, strengthened our Adult Day HealthCare program (“The Club”), and increased participation in our congregate meal and “Just Friends” initiatives. We also hosted the Giving Seniors Hope Thanksgiving Luncheon, bringing our community together to ensure no senior was without a holiday meal.

On that note, demand for in-home support and nutrition services continued to grow and we responded with efficiency, accountability, and compassion. Through strong state and municipal partnerships, program revenue, and community support, we reinvested every dollar back into local services that help seniors age safely in place. Our impact is not measured only in numbers, but in stability, dignity, and quality of life preserved.

Together, we are strengthening a community where older adults are supported, connected, and able to thrive.
